

Arden & GEM Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement 2017

As commissioning support unit and part of NHS England, Arden & GEM:

- is committed to the highest level of ethical standards and sound governance arrangements and sets high standards of impartiality, integrity and objectivity in relation to the stewardship of public funds and the management of its activities;
- adopts zero tolerance to corruption and bribery and this policy is endorsed by our Governing Body; and
- fully supports the Government's objectives to eradicate modern slavery and human trafficking;
- calls upon all organisations we engage with to influence their global supply chains by improving transparency and accountability; and together we can help the government eradicate the injustice and brutality of modern slavery and human trafficking.

Our website provides information about the organisations we work for and partner with to supplement this statement. It also includes details of how we are supporting some of our CCG customers to combat modern slavery.
