About Us

NHS Arden & GEM Commissioning Support Unit, commonly referred to as Arden & GEM CSU, are one of several CSU's hosted by NHS England who go through a procurement and tendering process to provide a range of commissioning support services to various Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) in England.

A CCG will be responsible for commissioning Health care services for the predetermined geographical area that it covers, to make sure a full range of services are available to the public living in the CCGs area. These commissioned services range from Acute Trust services (Your local hospital: A&E, Audiology, Orthopaedics, General Surgery, Upper GI, Neurology, Urology and so on), Mental Health Services, GP practice services, Community Health Services (District Nursing, Pharmacies, Dental Practices), as well as many other health related services you may have in your area.

The range of services that the CCGs contract Arden & GEM CSU to provide on behalf of the CCG in order to assist them in their Clinical Commissioning Duties and Obligations includes:

- Data Services for Commissioning Regional Office (DSCRO)
- Business Intelligence: Analysis of Health Related Data Sets
- Management and investigation of complaints
- Supply of Information Technology services; CCGs, GPs, healthcare provider organisations etc.
- Handling of Freedom of Information requests
- Communications and engagement activities
- Advice and guidance on access to personal records; Information Governance
- Procurement and Tendering of services
- Recruitment of staff and/or provision of Human Resource function
- Medicines Optimisation
- Service Transformation
- IFR and PHB services
- Contracts, Performance & Provider Management
- Corporate Governance & Risk Management
- Management and Planning of Individual Funding Referrals
- Carrying out Continuing Health Care Assessment service
- Financial processing: Invoice validation of requests for payment for Treatment carried out by CCG area Healthcare Providers

As Arden & GEM CSU carry out the services that are provided, some, but not all of these services, will require the CSU staff to process relevant personal information in order to fulfil the contracted work on behalf of the CCG. This information may in turn be provided back to the CCGs and General Practitioners (GPs) to support their commissioning, management and planning decision for healthcare services.

Types of Data used by the NHS	Further clarity
Personal Data: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Name • DOB • Address • Contact details • NHS Number 	Sometimes we receive information in a Spreadsheet that will contain the NHS Number only; this is still classed as processing your Personal information The Work Area tables gives detail of the Personal data used by Arden & GEM CSU teams
Pseudonymised Data: ‘unique code’	This is information that Personal Data which can easily identify the individual is replaced with a unique code, often referred to as a ‘key’. The lock to this ‘key’ would require a technical process to take place to enable the re-identification of the individual. An NHS Number is Personal data not Pseudonymised Data
Anonymised Data	Anonymised Data: Sometimes called Aggregate information; this type of information has no identifiable data contained within in it that has the capability to trace back to an individual person or a small group of persons i.e. persons with rare disease. This type of data analysis is usually a large amount of specific information (Data Sets) mostly contained within Spreadsheet’s

Corporate Data	Any information relating only to the Business Functions of an organisation

How we use personal information at Arden & GEM CSU

Invoice validation

When we receive invoices for your healthcare, we need to ensure that the invoice is genuine and accurate. To do this we will use limited information about individual patients. This will happen in a secure environment and will be carried out by a limited number of authorised staff. These activities and all identifiable information will remain within the Controlled Environment for Finance (CEFF) which is approved by NHS England.

Risk stratification

Risk stratification is a process that supports your family doctor (GP) to help you manage your health.

By using selected information from your health records, a secure NHS computer system will look at any recent treatments you have had in hospital or in the surgery, and any existing health conditions that you have. This will alert your doctor to the likelihood of a possible deterioration in your health. The clinical team at the surgery will use the information to help you get early care and treatment where it is needed.

NHS Arden & GEM Commissioning Support Unit (CSU) supports GP Practices with this work. NHS security systems will protect your health information and patient confidentiality at all times.

Right to opt out of Risk stratification processing

Patients have a right to object to their information being used for risk stratification. The GP practice must make patients aware that their information is being used for this purpose and that they have a right to object. This information is required for compliance with Data Protection Legislation 'The Right to be informed'. NHS England guidance is that GP practices should provide information to patients explaining how their data will be used and what to do if they have any concerns or objections.

Reasons for processing personal information without gaining your consent in the first instance

Where personal information is shared with others we will normally seek to gain your consent to do this, however there may be certain circumstances in which we are legally required to share your personal information without first gaining your consent for example:

- by a court order
- safeguarding of a Child or Vulnerable adult
- prevention or detection of crime
- notifiable diseases
- Carry out a specific task in the 'public interest' as set out by law

Job applicants, current and former employees

When individuals apply to work at NHS Arden & GEM Commissioning Support Unit, we will use the information they supply to us to process their application and to monitor recruitment statistics. Where we want to disclose information to a third party, for example where we want to take up a reference or obtain a 'disclosure' from the Disclosure Barring Service, consent is obtained during the application process unless the disclosure is required by law.

Rights of the Individual under Data Protection Legislation

Right to be informed, of the processing that takes place at an organisation that might require the processing of Persons Personal or Sensitive Personal 'Special Category' information

Right of Access, You are entitled to Access the personal information we hold on you and the right of this information in a Data Portability format; electronic format of this information. This type of access is referred to as a Subject Access Request. Any requests made will be jointly managed by both CCG and CSU staff unless you specifically state in your request that you do not wish this to happen.

Right to rectification, You have the right to have accurate and up to date records held on you by an organisation. If you are aware of a mistake in the information held on you contact the service you supplied your information to for rectification of your record

Right to Object, If you do not wish to consent to your personal information being shared with us, or have any concerns or questions about the use of your personal information, please contact: Arden & GEM Data Protection Officer at agem.dpo@nhs.net

Right to erasure, You have the right to 'be forgotten' unless there is an overriding legal requirement to retain the information held on you. It is a statutory responsibility for the NHS to retain a record of Health care events; i.e. a medical record. All Health related records are held in line with the NHS Records Management Code of Practice 2016 retention schedules unless otherwise stated

If you wish to discuss the content of your medical record then please contact the medical record holding organisation to address your concerns.

Right to restrict processing, or suppress the use of your personal data. It is a statutory responsibility for the NHS to retain a record of Health care events; i.e. a medical record

If you wish to discuss the content of your medical record then please contact the medical record holding organisation to address your concerns.

Withdraw Consent, if you wish to withhold your consent to share your personal information it may seriously impact on the services and responses we can offer you. The individual teams that have requested your consent for processing will be able to help with any concerns you may have with the use of your personal information

How Arden & GEM Staff keep personal information confidential

Under the NHS Confidentiality Code of Conduct, all of our staff are required to protect your information, inform you of how your information will be used, and allow you to decide if and how your information can be shared. This will be recorded in your records.

The NHS Care Record Guarantee

The NHS Care Record Guarantee for England sets out the rules that govern how patient information is used in the NHS and what control the patient can have over this. It covers people's access to their own records; controls on others' access; how access will be monitored and policed; options people have to further limit access; access in an emergency; and what happens when someone cannot make decisions for themselves.

Everyone who works for the NHS, or for organisations delivering services under contract to the NHS, has to comply with this guarantee. The NHS Care Record Guarantee was first published in 2005 and is regularly reviewed by the National Information Governance Board, to ensure it remains clear and continues to reflect the law and best practice. It was last reviewed in January 2011

The NHS Constitution

The NHS is founded on a common set of principles and values that bind together the communities and people it serves – patients and public – and the staff who work for it.

The NHS Constitution establishes the principles and values of the NHS in England. It sets out rights to which patients, public and staff are entitled, and pledges which the NHS is committed to achieve, together with responsibilities, which the public, patients and staff owe to one another to ensure that the NHS operates fairly and effectively.
